

JOHN M. EULESS

John M. Eules is one of Fresno's finest sports boosters. He is always ready to help promote sports teams and facilities.

Baseball is Eules' first love and it was through his leadership and help that the St. Louis Cardinals brought "pro" baseball to Fresno when Eules gathered together a group of local sportsmen to sponsor and aid in building of the Fresno State College Ball Park, now known as the John Eules Park.

His love for the game of baseball was gained when he participated in high school and on the sandlots.

He began his support to the game when he sponsored the Eules Realty Company team in 1917 and sponsored and managed the Exchange Club team in 1922.

And he hasn't stopped since.
